Things are heating up for SOCA in September!

September Events

2017 Events

September 9th will be the next Obstacle Schooling Day at Darby Oaks Stables in Bushnell, FL. If you haven't made reservations, please do so now. You can email us and pay at the event. Our last schooling day was completely full and this one is likely to be as well! Hope to see everyone there!

REMINDER!!!!!!

The EXCA Southeastern Regional Championships to be held in Gaffney, SC will be a TWO DAY race (September 23rd & 24th ). There are a few more spots left in the riding clinic with Peter Fraser (EXCA Director of Judges) on Friday 9/22.

The September 23rd & 24th race will be held at Barb and Joel Mobley's Green River Farm in Gaffney, South Carolina. This fast, fun outdoor course is one of our favorites and the hospitality is second to none! The food is great, the facility is awesome and friendship can't be beat anywhere! We look forward to seeing our veteran racers, as well as welcoming new faces! If you haven't entered the race or clinic – Do so now – Don't be left out!!! Flyers and entry forms are attached

80-year-old man to take on Extreme Cowboy Race Joe Holloway began participating in races at age 72

At the age of 72, Gainesville resident Joe Holloway picked up a new hobby — cowboy racing. With encouragement from his friend, Dennis Tipton of Clermont, Holloway began participating in races through the Extreme Cowboy Association, taking a horse through a series of 10-13 obstacles in a timed event. "I was in the novice (division) when I first started because that's for people new to the EXCA," Holloway said. "In my case, I wasn't just new to EXCA, I was new to being on the back of a horse. My first race was sort of walking my horse through the course. I looked pretty lame, but I did it."

Holloway said it took him about three years to get competitive in the races, but he did just that, winning the novice level at both the regionals and nationals in 2014 and placing in the top 10 in the world competition.

Now, at age 80, Holloway doesn't even let a quadruple bypass surgery about a year ago keep him from the sport he loves. He and his horse, Annie, will be among about 40-45 competitors running a total of 120 races Aug. 12 in a day of Extreme Cowboy racing at the Chicopee Woods Agricultural Center in Gainesville. It's the second consecutive year the Southern Obstacle Challenge Association, a regional organization of the Extreme Cowboy Association, has sponsored the event at Chicopee. "They came last year during August, the hottest month of they year," Holloway said. "All the folks loved the Chicopee facility, so it's now a regular event."

Extreme Cowboy racing has been around about a dozen years, according to Holloway. Riders are divided by ability and age. The have eight minutes to maneuver a course of 10-13 obstacles, which Holloway said are designed to "simulate obstacles that a cowboy might experience if he were riding a range trying to round up cows." Rider and horse have about 20-30 seconds to get through each obstacle. Obstacles require skills such as jumping, crossing a narrow bridge and doing precise movements dictated to the horse through small touches from the rider. It's really horsemanship skills," Holloway said.

Competitors start each obstacle with a score of 5.5 and are graded up or down based on their approach to the obstacle, the execution of the obstacle and the way the horse proceeds through it. While the rider and horse have eight minutes to complete the course, Holloway said "taking eight minutes on the course will land you at the bottom of the list." He added that a top time for a course is two and a half to four minutes, and points are awarded based on the time it takes to get through an obstacle. Participants run two races, and the course is reset and changed before the second round of races. Holloway said a good score is 6 to 7.5. An 8 would be a very good score. He said scores of 9 or above are rare, although he received a 9 this year at nationals. It came in the second half of races on a course he had not been able to complete in the first set of races. That score elevated him to a seventh-place finish at nationals. Holloway credits Tipton with getting him interested in riding and Extreme Cowboy racing. Annie, the horse he rides, actually belongs to Tipton, who owns the Rocking T Ranch in Clermont. "He said 'Come out and ride with me; I'll give you a horse you can ride," Holloway said. "I didn't really have any riding experience at that point. It turns out Annie knew a lot more than I did, so Annie sort of taught me to ride."

After winning the nationals in the novice division in 2014, Holloway had to move to other divisions. He plans to run the races at Chicopee in both the intermediate and 55 and older classes. Tipton and his horse, Zippy, ride in the pro and non-pro divisions. Holloway said his favorite thing about the races is the competition. "It's like golf," he said. "You knock (the ball) out in the woods. That makes you just want to come out and do it again. It's the same with this. If you don't do well, you say, 'Let's try that again.' It's the thrill of being able to control that horse." While it is competitive, Holloway said it "is not a cutthroat sport." "Everybody supports everybody else," he said. "Everybody wants to see everybody do well. They just want to do better. It's unusual in that regard."

Spectators coming to the Chicopee event will likely be surprised at what they see. "Unless they know something about horses, they won't recognize what these people are doing," Holloway said. "But they will say, 'I didn't know horses would do that." Riders pay an entry fee at registration, but the event is free to spectators. Holloway said he hopes people will come out, see the events and even want to participate. "Most people who come either know somebody who is racing and want to see what they do or you're a horse person and you want to see horses do something," Holloway said. "In Gainesville, there are a lot of people who ride horses and they trail ride. Last year, we picked up two or three that were willing to come try it.

"It says Extreme Cowboy racing, and the trail rider may say, 'That's too tough for me," but it's not," Holloway added. "The obstacles are no different than what a trail rider might experience out in the woods. You've got a log you've got to go over; you've got a creek you've got to cross. I think there's a place for everybody who loves their horse to compete."

2017 High Points

In 2017 SOCA will award high point obstacle challenge winners in the following divisions: Novice, Youth, Intermediate, Open Elite and Posse. Points from each of the 2017 SOCA Obstacle Challenges will be totaled and the horse/rider team with the most points will be the high point champion. Based on the feedback from members, the high point award will be custom SOCA buckles. Ribbons will be awarded to 6th place for high point.

Regional Championship buckles for the Extreme Cowboy Races will be determined by points accumulated at SOCA events only. The horse/rider teams accumulating the most points at each designated SOCA EXCA race (with the triple points at the Nationals in June and Regional Championship races in September and double points for all State Championships) will be awarded the high point buckle in the following divisions: Pro, Non-Pro, Ride Smart, Novice, Intermediate, Youth and Young Guns.

To be eligible for high point buckles, SOCA members must have attended all challenges or races.

> SOCA dues ($10) are due January 1st! Please renew at your first event of the year. Dues help fund the highpoint awards and administrative costs of the club.
